Balustrading an Important Aspect of the Australian Construction Industry

Moddex Systems is one of the leading providers of balustrading systems to Australian construction sites everywhere. Used in construction, mining, education and other industries, balustrading will always be in high demand.

When it comes to Australian construction, balustrading is a veryimportant aspect. Balustrading, which is essentially providing modularhandrails and barrier solutions to many industries in and around Australia, isimportant for safety, security and peace of mind. Now, Moddex Systems findsitself as one of the leading providers of balustrading solutions to manyAustralian industries.

Theindustries where balustrading is always seen in high demand includeconstruction, mining, education, civil projects, metal fabrication andengineering projects, transport, maintenance and public utility projects.Before Moddex Systems became the balustrading supplier for many of theseindustries, many Australian project managers were forced to import balustradingmaterials from other countries. This often left managers dealing withsubstandard work or materials that weren't always compatible with othermaterials used on the job site.

ModdexSystems ensures Australian project managers that their balustrading materials,hand rails and other modular systems are always of the best quality and thatthey are backed by top-notch customer support. This has allowed Moddex Systemsto become the leading provider of balustrading materials to industries all overthe Australian continent.

Tosee a full list of the balustrades materials that are offered by Moddex Systemsand to see why many project managers trust Moddex over all other balustradingsuppliers, visit: http://www.moddex.com.au.

AboutModdex Systems:

Consideredone of the top suppliers of balustrading systems for many industries throughoutthe Australian continent, Moddex Systems strives to provide simple, modular andeffective systems that will ensure safety and security on any job site orproject. Moddex Systems offer fast and efficient delivery and a quickerinstallation time than competitors offer and that makes the company theAustralian balustrading leader.

Contacts

Peter Ford
1800 663 339
mailto: sales@moddex.com.au