RADIXON GROUP PTY LTD APPOINTS NOVENTUS PTY LTD FOR AUSTRALIAN REPRESENTATION

Noventus

Melbourne, Australia - July 2010 - The Radixon Group Pty Ltd is pleased to announce the appointment of Noventus Pty Ltd as our Partner & Distributor for Australia. Noventus was established in 2008 to focus on the Defence and Commercial C4I industry and now has a diverse Defence, Rail and Telecommunications client base Australia-wide. Radixon is proud to partner with Noventus, chosen for its many years of experience and expertise with Defence Systems/Software Engineering in the communications and surveillance domains. Visit the website at www.noventus.com.au for more information.

In announcing the partnership, Radixons Managing Director, Mr. Milan Hudecek, said that this relationship would enhance Radixons local capacity and capability. The partnership will provide Australian Defence customers opportunities for rapid development of high priority solutions which require innovative Software-Defined Communications for Interoperability, Counter Improvised Explosive Device (IED) Electronic Warfare (EW), Direction Finding (DF), Signals Intelligence (SIGINT) and Lawful Intercept technology.

Mr. Keith Armstrong, Managing Director of Noventus, said the alliance with Radixon adds a new and unique network-centric dimension to our capabilities. Radixon is an Australian company with a significant in-house R&D capability, already exporting software configurable radio communications, monitoring and surveillance technology to overseas Defence clients. As Radixon already has a substantial defence-grade product portfolio which is in operational use around the world, it makes eminent sense to provide the same capabilities to the Australian Defence Force.
