

Banksia announces HotFax MessageCenter 6.0

Ever wondered what that 56K modem in your new computer could ever be used for? Wouldn't it be great to be able to send and receive faxes right from the comfort of your own home? Or do you have a business and need an inexpensive way to manage your faxes and voicemail? Whatever your situation, HotFax MessageCenter 6.0 is your solution!

With HotFax MessageCenter 6.0, everything you need is at your fingertips. Faxing is as simple as printing from any Windows application. Managing your sent and received faxes is a snap. And with the ability to automatically forward received faxes to your email, you will never miss another important fax!

If you have a voice capable modem, take advantage of HotFax MessageCenter's extensive feature set to turn your computer into a simple, yet sophisticated answering machine for your family or business. Set up multiple mailboxes for each family member or business employee, each with their own outgoing greeting. Or use incoming Caller ID to customize your outgoing messages. And as with faxes, have voicemail automatically forwarded to your email and never be out of touch.

HotFax MessageCenter 6.0 automatically customizes itself to the features of your modem! Whether you have a built-in 56K fax/modem that came with your PC or an advanced fax/modem with voicemail support, HotFax MessageCenter 6.0 will detect that support and customize the program accordingly. It's that simple!

HotFax Message Centre is distributed by Banksia Software. RRP: $99.
