

Cincom further expands its Australian team

Cincom, a leading supplier of business and manufacturing software, has appointed Allan Mortensen as a senior manufacturing industry consultant working on the CONTROL Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) and Priority manufacturing systems.

In his new role, Mr Mortensen will be involved in all areas of consulting including pre and post sales within the manufacturing industry.

For the past four years, Mr Mortensen has worked for IFS Australia as a senior consultant for manufacturing, planning and costing as well as working with service management, distribution, document management, human resources and CRM.

Mr Mortensen holds an American Production and Inventory Control Society (APICS) qualification and is Certified in Production and Inventory Management (CPIM). He also has a Master of Science in engineering.

Allan is an outstanding candidate for this position and brings significant industry experience to his new role, said Paul Hargreaves, Managing Director Cincom Australia and New Zealand.

With his proven track record, Allan will provide invaluable support to our manufacturing customers in meeting their business objectives.

Cincom CONTROL is a web-based Enterprise Resource Planning solution that simplifies manufacturing, financial, and regulatory processes for complex manufacturers by streamlining and integrating all key business functions.

Cincoms Priority is an Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) software solution, which provides a competitive edge through cost effective and efficient use of a single system that supports the complete business process. Priority is designed specifically to fulfill the needs of SMEs that sell, manufacture or distribute products and services.
