

iCloud Releases Free Trial with Unlimited Bandwidth iCloudDrive Service

For all your computers, works on any mobile digital device, simple and hassle-free and only $29.95 USD/year

For all that have been looking to use a cloud-based service, iCloud Inc. offers a free trial for their unlimited iCloudDrive Backup service. You can now have full access to all your files, photos and music regardless of the digital device you use.

The company's cloud services are recognized for their great value with offerings that provide massive amounts of bandwidth storage providing clients with complete flexibility with the amount of information they can store, the number of computers they want to backup and it can be used with their mobile digital device of choice. With the release of iCloudDrive Backup at $29.95/year, you can be in complete cloud control of all your digital information. For anyone that has ever lost their valuable files, it's easy to justify protecting them safely online for $2.50 a month, a small price to pay for convenience and complete peace of mind.

The service allows you to get full access to all your files no matter how many you have. It's instant, automatic protection and backs up all your computers- works on PC and Mac. Your information is safe and secure with files encrypted and stored multiple times. All iCloud customers benefit from a 30 Day Satisfaction Guarantee, regardless of the iCloud service they subscribe to.

The launch of iCloud's free iCloudDrive Backup trial is another great example of iCloud's determination to gain momentum in the mobile market by making cloud service available and affordable to every home and business user globally.
