19

August, 2010: Auckland, New Zealand Markinson, a specialist business software provider to mid sized businesses, was last night recognised for its outstanding work in building and deploying Microsoft Dynamics CRM solutions, winning Partnering of the Year at the 2010 Microsoft NZ Partner Awards.

Markinson received the award in recognition of its work for Orb Communications, New Zealands largest independent telecommunications retailer. Working in partnership with Appserv, the award winning solution includes custom entities to capture customer, service contract and customer/product relationships. This capability allows Orb to obtain an instant, 360-degree view of any customer at any time in any location and enhances customer service. The solution is hosted with Appserv, which ensures excellent country-wide performance via both web browser and Outlook interfaces.

According to Matt Evans, general manager sales & marketing at Orb, the solution has improved the companys ability to cross-sell and has already delivered measurable sales wins.

We are thrilled with the results and are already seeing a return on our investment with improved retention rates, reduced call to sale times and faster customer support. Markinson and Appservs approach has been very professional, dedicated and honest. In our book they are worthy winners of the award, said Evans.

Commenting on the win, Ian Whiting, chief executive officer at Markinson said, Were extremely proud of our success and value our strong working partnership with Appserv. We look forward to building upon our relationship with them in future proposals.

Whiting believes Microsoft Dynamics CRM provides the flexibility and depth of functionality businesses need to scale, making it the ideal solution to deliver against a business needs and enable them to quantify and benefit from a fast return on investment. He points to the companys work with Orb as a compelling real life example of best practice in CRM that continues to bring unprecedented benefits to the customer.

The awards cap a big year for Markinson with the company ramping up growth with three CRM acquisitions¹ as well as strengthening its partner network to support the delivery of leading edge solutions to its customers.

The company with offices in Auckland and Wellington is rapidly growing its presence in New Zealand and predicts revenues from their New Zealand operations to grow by 30-50 percent this financial year. Clients include Orb Communications, Ministry of Womens Affairs, Qualmark, Fletcher Aluminium, Healthlink, Nuplex and Woosh Wireless.
