

Ripple Sea Shell Massage

Lush massage with sea shells unique to Ripple Massage in Australia

Ripple Seashell Massage Scented oils heated in a cowrie shell crevasse, crimson tinted cone shells unlocking the stress in shoulders and delicate cockle shells smoothing the lines on the face

Sea shells have an uplifting natural energy that is drawn on in a unique new massage style by Ripple Sea Shell Massage.

Using a mix of reef shells, including speckled cowries, ginger scallops, lions paw fans and elegant sun dial shells, this style of massage taps into the energy of the shells whilst giving a deep and calming massage.

The shells are used in a mix of ways. Some like the cowries are heated, and aromatherapy oils are poured into the crevasse to warm before being trickled onto the body. The smooth domed surface is also used with hands on massage to release muscles. The shells are used both to de stress and for deeper tissue work.

Other shells like the lions paws and scarlet coloured scallops are heated and placed on the body to warm the chakras and also the hands during the massage.

Smaller more delicate sun dial and cockles are used to release lines in the face, whilst cones and olives unlock tension in the neck and shoulders.

All of Ripples Ripple Shell Massage packages include free day spa extras. Each package starts with a scented Australian washed salt foot bath, complete with smaller shells and the feel of the surf and sand between the toes.

A full body exfoliation with lime, tangerine and walnut is also included in the two hour package and hot steamed towels with an organic green clay and cucumber face mask complement the shell face massage. A gift of Ripple lotion means you are able to continue the experience after your massage has finished.
