

Sigma Infotech's Local SEO Solutions Position Your Business on Google's Page 1

Small businesses and shops need to market themselves in the local market, and local SEO services empower these businesses to build a strong brand and attract customers.

A week marketing campaign can spell disaster for your business, but Internet offers great marketing opportunities that can help you rise above your competitors and gain all the recognition and attention that you vie for. Sydney-based Sigma Infotech is one search engine optimisation provider that offers local SEO solutions to help SMEs in Australia. In local SEO, Google Places serves as a platform where you can claim your business listing on Google for free. A business that is listed on Places, automatically gets the leverage to feature on page 1 of the results page. Sigma Infotech's Google Places optimisers submit your business on this platform so that local customers can be directed to your brick and mortar store effectively. Businesses that don't have a website yet, can still feature on Page 1 of Google – thanks to the local SEO services such as Google Places and Google Maps. At Sigma, a customised approach is adopted so that you are better prepared to compete with other established brands. As part of its local SEO package, Sigma conducts the keyword research, on-page optimisation, monthly traffic report, major local directory submissions, niche directory submissions, monthly reporting, Google Places SEO, and Google Analytics setup. Sigma Infotech's SEOs are determined to take your business on top of the search engines and bring a continuous stream of customers to your store. What makes this company's local SEO package more attractive is the affordable prices with long-term results. The company also offers a full spectrum of web services including website design, web development, app development, social media marketing, pay per click advertising, software development, graphic design, database development, mobile apps, online marketing and more.

Contacts

Tanuj Rastogi
1300 78 20 23
mailto: sales@sigmainfotech.com.au