

2012 Market Exposé

Which Property Presents 3 Hot Topics Demystified by Leading Industry Experts

Registrations are now open for Which Property's complimentary 2012 Market Expos series. This August, Which Property will be hosting a series of three informative evenings which will provide fresh insight into three hot property topics as well as an opportunity to consult with some of the industry's leading experts.

Which Property believes the cornerstone to a sound property investment is research. The three hot topics and presenters have been hand picked by Which Property Managing Director, Mark Borrill. The informative series will commence with 'Self-managed Super & Property: Wealth Building'. Nick Stathis of Portfolio Financial Group will investigate self-managed super as an investment strategy with the potential to eliminate capital gains tax and create a tax-free retirement income through property.

The following two evenings will be presented by industry thought leader Jon Rivera of independent research group, Urbis. 'The Brisbane Property Market: Here to Where?' will provide insights into Urbis research fundamentals and selecting prime growth areas in Brisbane. The concluding evening of the series, 'Resource Regions & Property: Sustainable Growth?', will outline top tips for regional analysis and case study the Gladstone region.

For more information on the 2012 Market Expos series, contact Which Property on 07 3505 6000 or visit www.whichproperty.com.au/augustevents.

Contacts

Paula Key
+61 7 3505 6000
mailto: reception@whichproperty.com.au