

2019 IT Journalism Awards now open!

MediaConnect is delighted to announce that entries for the 2019 IT Journalism Awards are now open. All categories, judging criteria and entry forms can be found at www.thelizzies.com. Entries must be submitted before midnight on January 25th, with the gala awards presentation being held on Friday March 22nd, 2019 at Luna Park in Sydney. Now in its 17th year, the IT Journalism Awards is supported by long-time sponsors Watterson Marketing Communications. The awards will recognise work published in the 2018 calendar year, with 21 awards for both individuals and mastheads. “These awards are about recognising and promoting high-quality journalism, and the facts are that has never been more necessary or relevant, so we’re delighted to announce that the 2019 Lizzies are open for submissions and encourage everyone in the technology journalism community to get behind this year’s awards,” MediaConnect CEO Phil Sim said. As always, every journalist who submits an entry will be afforded one free ticket to attend the awards ceremony courtesy of our sponsors. Tickets for friends and guests are available for purchase at <http://www.thelizzies.com/attend-the-awards/>. If you would like to help us with judging the awards, please get in touch — all judges receive one free ticket to the event. Sponsorships are still available. Please contact Phil Sim on 02 9894 6277 or philip@mediaconnect.com.au to secure one of the final sponsorship opportunities. If you have any queries regarding entries please contact Craig Daveson on 02 9894 6277 or craigd@mediaconnect.com.au.
