

Air Conditioning Online

Polyaire Launches an all new Online Store

Polyaire, an air conditioning wholesaler and components manufacturer with over 20 warehouses now has an online store for customers who are looking to purchase air conditioning products from the comfort of their homes or job site. This saves a lot of time and customers will be able to review and compare items online, with just a few clicks.

The website stocks a full range of air conditioning parts and components including split and ducted systems by major brands such as Samsung, Carrier, and Toshiba.

You will also be able to find high quality air conditioning accessories such as ducting and outlets to complement any installation as well as helpful hints and demo videos.

Fast Delivery: Anything can be delivered direct to site, or just click and collect from Polyaire's warehouses. The website also offers fast delivery and genuine savings for air conditioning trade professionals.

The era of online shopping is here to stay. And why not? From being able to have a seamless experience browsing and purchasing from anywhere, any time of the day, customers can peruse through the myriad of products online, review the competitive pricing and make a sound decision.

If you're curious, hop on to the Polyaire Store on <https://store.polyaire.com.au> and experience how seamless it is to make a for your next installation.

Contacts

Adam

mailto:business@polyaire.com.au