

Allan Van Planning Specializes in Solutions for Residential, Commercial and Industrial Projects

Allan Van Planning is a boutique Town Planning and a Surveying agency with over 50 years experience in the private and public sector, Allan and Daniel have the know-how to get your development through the complicated planning process in the shortest possi

The Gold Coast economy is booming and expert planning is essential to the success of any project in that locale. Allan Van Planning specializes in town planning services that are one of the quickest and most economical to get projects approved and on their way to fruition.

The boutique consultancy firm works with clients on property development and subdivisions to commercial and community use projects. The agency provides consultations, advice and surveying services, and can assist with permits, applications, compliance issues, and negotiate on behalf of clients. The agency works closely with clients and local authorities to help with all aspects of the development process.

As a town planner Gold Coast agency, the firm is experienced in multiple fields that include subdivisions, multi-family dwellings, and high-rise residential developments, along with retail and mixed use projects, commercial and major industrial developments. The agency has experience with changes to existing approvals and BCC RiskSmart fast track development approvals.

As rules, regulations and requirements become more complex, the services of the town planner Brisbane is more critical than ever. The agency can prepare planning documents for improvements, expansions, feasibility studies, property purchases, best use, and assessment determinations. The firm's experts can attend council meetings to learn how to meet their requirements and the needs of clients.

Even the best laid plans can result in compliance actions and the town planning Gold Coast specialists provide assistance in resolving compliance actions and can negotiate outcomes when a Show Cause Notice has been issued. The firm's experts are experienced in dealing with governmental units and resolving compliance actions.

Allan Van Planning is a full service boutique consultancy, town planning and surveying firm with more than 50 years of experience for any type of project. Direct access is available to the company's professionals, Allan Van and Daniel Ebert, and it's just one of the agency's features that make them stand out from the rest.
