

Andatech re-establishes drug testing services to businesses as 'ICE' in the workforce reaches new heights

Drug and alcohol testing regimes that will deter drug and alcohol use and lead to safer working environments.

Melbourne, Australia – June 18, 2015 – Director of Andatech, Irwandy Tan, today re-established Andatech's "Third Party Sampling" Drug and Alcohol management plans as the "ICE" epidemic takes over the workforce.

"Drug and alcohol testing is much more prevalent today than ever before, with more and more employees using 'ice' within their working environment." said Tan.

"Every business needs an efficient and effective drug management plan, especially in those industries such as transport and construction where workers affected by drugs are placing other people's lives at risk".

As a third party drug and alcohol testing company, Andatech is certified and able to test for all major drug groups. Featuring exceptional quality control standards and Australian standard certified testing equipment; Andatech is committed to providing efficient service with fast and accurate results.

With news outlets such as the ABC, Australian Financial Review and the Daily Telegraph reporting that the 'ice' epidemic will continue to grow within industries if left unchecked, it seems clear that businesses need to adapt and introduce new drug policies in order to maintain safe working conditions.

With a minimum requirement of just five employees combined with three cost-effective levels of service suited to companies both large and small, Andatech's new Drug And Alcohol Testing Management Plans (Third Party Sampling) are ideal for any businesses worried about the safety of their employees.
