

Andatech Unveils its Two Newest Additions to the Health and Wellness Family

New ultrasonic aroma diffuser and air purifier to be launched in September 2015, available for pre-orders now.

Melbourne, Australia – August 27, 2015 – Andatech director, Irwandy Tan, today announced the arrival of two new additions to the Andatech family - the Ionmax Breeze ION420 Air Purifier, and the Ionmax Serene ION138 Ultrasonic Aroma Diffuser.

“They combine the best aspects of our previous products, with what customers have told us they wanted in terms of functionality and design, while maintaining an attractive price point,” said Tan.

“We’ve made several improvements and added some new features, and are already seeing a lot of interest in them from our customers and our resellers.”

The Ionmax Breeze ION420 air purifier is a comprehensive purification system comprised of 5 levels of filtration to achieve maximum efficiency. Combined with a superior and lightweight design that matches any décor, the purpose built filtration system targets 99% of particles, bacteria and mould spores, while neutralising unpleasant and toxic odours, making it one of the most compact and powerful air filtration systems available.

The Ionmax Serene ION138 aroma diffuser features advanced ultrasonic technology, which when accompanied by a few drops of your favourite essential oil, creates a calming and therapeutic atmosphere for your home and family. Featuring a clock, timer, built-in ioniser and colour-changing LED lights inside a compact and convenient design, the ION138 is the perfect addition to any home.

Availability Both products are available now for pre-order online at www.andatech.com.au.
