

Australian technology company carbonTRACK, a leading intelligent energy management systems company, is thrilled to be working with Mojo Power.

“This is an exciting move for Mojo Power, building our offerings of smart tools for residential and business customers”.- Adam MacDonald, Executive Director Commercial carbonTRACK provides an ‘always on’ smart gateway, at a house or business, that remotely monitors and controls electricity and allows for smart home control through a smart phone (switching schedules, customisable alerts etc.). These tools allow a level of control that delivers the best outcome for the customer, but also allows Mojo to provide a better service through a Virtual Power Plant (VPP).

Adam MacDonald, Executive Director Commercial, said “This is an exciting move for Mojo Power, building our offerings of smart tools for residential and business customers”.

carbonTRACK’s Demand Response, Frequency Regulation, Virtual Energy Trading and Grid Resiliency solutions deliver the full VPP Value Chain to Utilities & TSOs, SOs & Energy Traders, Financiers, Solar Sales Teams and Solar hardware Manufacturers.

Intelligent Energy Management with these features:

- Demand side management
- Peak shaving
- Storage integration
- Virtual Power Plant

“We are extremely excited to be working with Mojo, an innovative Australian electricity retailer that is disrupting the status quo. We are proud that our tech will help their customers save money and get their ‘Mojo back’! said Spiros Livadaras, Managing Director - carbonTRACK.
