

Brisbane technology company wins global “LegalTech Startup of the Year” award

Lawcadia named LegalTech Start of the Year and Overall Legal Spend Management Solution Provider of the Year at the global LegalTech Breakthrough Awards

Lawcadia, Australia’s leading provider of matter and spend management solutions for in-house legal teams and their law firms, has been named the winner of the LegalTech Start of the Year and Overall Legal Spend Management Solution Provider of the Year at the global LegalTech Breakthrough Awards.

The awards were conducted by Tech Breakthrough, a leading market intelligence organisation that recognizes companies for their ground-breaking technologies and products in highly competitive, global technology sectors.

Lawcadia has a unique platform for managing external legal spend and outside counsel relationships along with legal matter management and workflow automation. In October 2020, Lawcadia announced the launch of Lawcadia Intelligence™, a new intelligent platform engine that incorporates machine learning with business logic and no-code automation.

Lawcadia co-founder and chief marketing officer Sacha Kirk said they are committed to progressing market leading innovation in areas that will improve their client’s operations and success.

According to Ms Kirk the legal industry is experiencing a period of extraordinary change with new appetites for transformation, positioning legal technology systems as crucial pieces of infrastructure.

“Winning these awards are validation that our innovative approach to solving problems using technology is making an impact,” she said.

The mission of the LegalTech Breakthrough Awards is to honour excellence and recognize the innovation, hard work and success in a range of LegalTech categories. This year’s inaugural program attracted more than 1,250 nominations from over 14 countries around the globe. The full listing of award winners announced in all sectors can be viewed here.
