

ComOps Launches Korellus ERP for Business Optimisation

ComOps, a leading Australasian provider of business software products and services, announces the next stage in its transformation process with the establishment of Korellus ERP. This new brand and wholly owned subsidiary of ComOps Limited will provide next generation ERP, POS, Field Automation, and Business Intelligence to the mid and upper markets.

Inspired by the Australian Corella bird, Korellus ERP was chosen to represent the organisation as it moves into the international market place. Providing integrated solutions to create efficiencies and empower businesses to make smarter, more informed decisions, Korellus ERP will capitalise on its 40 year history of servicing the Transport and Logistics, Retail, FMCG, Mining, Heavy Industry, Healthcare and Government industries.

Korellus ERP will become synonymous with best practice business management, and will go to market with ComOps' highly successful Enterprise Resource Planning applications, Business Analytics, and Mobile Field and Sales Force Automation system. The integrated POS and eCommerce solution for retail will finally enable a singular customer experience for retailers delivering across both web and storefronts. These core applications will be supported with the upcoming release of best of breed business intelligence and process management solutions.

Organisations today recognise the value of technology and modernising their processes to gain competitive advantages. Korellus ERP is focused on solving real business challenges with robust, practical and innovative solutions. Whether an organisation needs solutions to help it run, grow or transform, Korellus ERP combines both IT and industry expertise to deliver best of breed solutions. Offering flexibility in implementation, clients have the choice of on-premise installations or cloud based offerings.

Daniel Sheahan, CEO of ComOps says: This new venture and rebranding of Korellus ERP is the next step in the ongoing evolution of ComOps, pushing forward as a recognised leader in both ERP and Workforce Management. The separation of these two businesses will allow us to focus our strong domain knowledge and intellectual capital under individual brands, to become synonymous with best practice software solutions in both areas."

Daniel Sheahan, CEO of ComOps says: This new venture and rebranding of Korellus ERP is the next step in the ongoing evolution of ComOps, pushing forward as a recognised leader in both ERP and Workforce Management. The separation of these two businesses will allow us to focus our strong domain knowledge and intellectual capital under individual brands, to become synonymous with best practice software solutions in both areas."

ComOps Limited has a 40-year history in the IT industry and listed on the ASX in 1999.

The company develops, sells, implements, hosts and supports Enterprise and Workforce Management software solutions under individual brands; ComOps WFM and Korellus ERP.

These solutions are used by a range of blue chip clients such as Toll Transport, Sensis, RACQ, Steinhoff Asia Pacific (Freedom Furniture), Australia Post, Toshiba, Dulux, Canon, Queensland Government, NSW Lotteries, DP World and Commonwealth Bank, with over 8000 users worldwide.

ComOps is also a Microsoft Gold Partner, Progress Premier Partner, is ISO 9001:2008 Quality Accredited and Government Endorsed.

Contacts

Katrina Bradley
(02) 9923 8000
mailto: katrina.bradley@comops.com.au