

CXC Global launches tax advice and tax return preparation business

Working to assist contractors better plan for their future

CXC Financial Partners is proud to announce the launch of its new accounting, tax return and tax advice business. This undertaking is designed to ensure that CXC's financial planning business is complemented further by an experienced team of taxation experts.

CXC Financial Partners' goal is to partner with clients to ensure they have the highest probability of achieving their financial objectives in a tax effective manner.

The CXC Financial Partners team can now provide both financial strategy advice as well as:

- Tax advice to ensure clients legally minimise their tax while maintaining optimal cash flow.
- Tax Return Preparation for individuals, trusts, companies, partnerships and Self-Managed Super Funds to ensure clients meet their reporting obligations and legally minimise their tax and maximise their refund.
- Business Activity Statements (BAS) for individuals, trusts, companies, partnerships and Self-Managed Super Funds to ensure clients meet their PAYG instalment and GST obligations.
- Entity set ups for trusts, companies, partnerships and Self-Managed Super Funds to ensure clients operate through the most appropriate tax structure.

Joining the CXC Financial Partners team and heading up the tax business is Baburam Bhattaraj. Baburam has over 13 years of experience, working for a variety of accounting and taxation practices for both individual and corporations in Australia and abroad.

About CXC Financial Partners

CXC Financial Partners is an industry leading wealth creation and tax advisory business. All our advisers are both fully qualified financial planners and taxation experts.

We have our own Australian Financial Services Licence (AFSL number 378656). By operating with our own license it provides us with the flexibility to provide all the financial solutions our clients require and not being forced to provide a limited offering like many banks and large financial institutions.

We are passionate about providing our clients with all the strategies and solutions they need to enable them to live the lifestyle they choose.

We decided to launch CXC Financial Partners as we saw a strong demand from the public to work with financial advisers they can trust. Financial advisers, which are fully dedicated to providing cost effective holistic solutions for customers without chasing commissions.

We develop deep life-long relationships with our clients by providing the vision, the ongoing solutions and consistent implementation.

CXC Financial Partners is part of the CXC Global™ group.
