

DesignRush Titled Zealous System Top Software Development Company of January- 2021

DesignRush, a B2B research, ratings and review platform of Technology Companies, Marketing Companies and others has released a list of the top Software Development Companies of 2021 from across the globe to help enterprises make an informed decision and choose the best partner for their Software development projects. The announcement was made on 05th of January, 2021 and the list was published on various PR sites under the title "The Top Software Development Companies in January, According to DesignRush"

DesignRush understood that due to the lockdown and pandemic situations, many businesses had to move their business online and virtual world became the new gateway towards global audience. The increasing trend has resulted as growth in investment on Enterprise solutions and the investment is expected to grow by 7.2% i.e. upto $492 Billion USD by the end of 2021! Thus, to ensure that enterprises could make their Software relevant for their customers and also make it innovative enough to gain a competitive edge, the enterprises must look for a right software development partner that can provide them with personalized and innovative software solutions.

Thus, to help their customers, DesignRush released the list of The Top Software Development Service Providers in which, Zealous System was shortlisted as one of the 35 Top Software Development Companies across the platform.

For software to be successful, it is essential that it is user-friendly and that users have a seamless experience while accessing it. Also, to ensure that the software aligns with enterprise's goals and customer expectations, the Software Development Partner that they choose must be able to comprehend the organization's requirements, their business operations as well as culture and based on that, create a personalized Software.

DesignRush understood the dynamics too well and thus, carried out a detailed research to shortlist Software Development Service Providers that had a proven track record and extensive portfolio of serving clients from multiple domains. The process was conducted and Zealous was identified for its three dominant traits Quality, Reliability and Ability.

Apart from that, GoodFirms also recently recognised Zealous System as their top US based Mobile Development Company and also identified Zealous System as the Best e-commerce development Company in 2020. Zealous System has many verified reviews on GoodFirms for various services that they have catered to clients from different domains.

Zealous holds a top position in the market as it provides comprehensive Software solutions right from Development services to seamless software integrations, software maintenance and QA services, design services, optimum security measures establishment and others. The reason why Zealous is preferred for enterprise solutions is because they have a diverse pool of resources that not only understands the client's culture, but also understand the local market nuances and based on that they deliver personalized solutions.

Apart from Software solutions, Zealous System delivers exemplary IT solutions to numerous clients from various domains and countries. With recognitions such as Microsoft Gold Partner and fully-functional offices in India, USA, Australia, Canada and Namibia, Zealous has made a global mark in the IT industry. The firm is also heavily investing in cognitive Technologies such as IoT development, Augmented Reality, Virtual Reality and other such emerging technologies. To understand more about their clients, services and achievements, clients can visit the profile of the company on the above mentioned platforms or can directly contact them through their website.

Contacts

Pranjal Mehta

mailto: info@zealousys.com