

Driven by Design – Trueline's Carports Are Made to Last

With designs crafted to match the architectural style of the home and options to suit all budgets, Trueline's range of carports transform outdoor space design. They apply architectural thinking and technique to go beyond ordinary in crafting patio, pergola and carport structures of exceptional quality made only of the best Australian materials.

Trueline has introduced a new affordable high-quality carport range. The new range of carports is available in a range of designs, sizes and formats.

The Kudos Luxe Carports from Trueline are for those looking to bring an element of architectural style to the front of their home. Trueline carports can be created to make a dramatic statement at the front of a property or as a refined structure to harmonise the connection between home and streetscape. Kudos carports are available with either aluminium or insulated roofing systems in a range of profiles using premium grade Australian made materials built by our own skilled professionals. The carport structure is customised for each project and can be designed for flat, gable and elevated roof forms with a wide choice of colour options.

The Heritage Carports are for those who admire the stylish simplicity and chic aesthetic of the Heritage Hamptons design or prefer the more locally inspired Heritage Queenslander design.

The decision to add a carport usually occurs because there is a practical need to provide protective space for one or more vehicles and in many instances comes as a consequence that your garage is now being used for a purpose other than storing cars. However, the functionality of the cover usually overrides equally important considerations around aesthetics and durability.

Trueline believes the most important consideration while choosing a carport is matching the functional need of protecting vehicles with the home's aesthetic style. Trueline carports are designed with the same exacting standards of quality and design applied to their patio projects.

Trueline only use premium grade Australian materials built by their own skilled professionals with each project engineered to provide lifelong performance in Australian conditions and backed by genuine peace of mind guarantees.
