Global Tour Specialists have taken the time to research the destinations and make sure that each tour has all the elements that women enjoy. Global Tour Specialists try out the restaurants ,talk to the chefs and make sure that there is ambiance and quality. We are interested in food, coffee , art and local culture – they offer a balance of iconic and freshly uncovered attractions. Their itineraries are planned to include dates that offer market days or special events in the area.

They also recognise that having some time to yourself on tour is important as it offers you the opportunity to explore or relax without missing out . They also recognise that it is the little details that you will love....the right place for a coffee, the most interesting boutique shops ,the best time of day to see animals or experience the best view .

Braid also explains "At Global Tour Specialists we are women like you who are passionate about travel. We are curious about the world and we want to see more. You may be new to travelling -We can make it comfortable for you and ease your nervousness by being with a small group tour."
