Haggus and Stookles: Providing Practical Solutions for Parents and Children

Haggus and Stookles main purpose is to offer our customers a range of high quality, tried and tested products that will help make life easier with kids.

It's a fact of life – children can be messy. Haggus and Stookles products are designed to make life easier by minimizing messes and facilitating clean-up. It's an especially important aspect in busy lives that can involve potty training, school, and any type of travel.

Toilet training is a milestone for children and Haggus and Stookles has a variety of toilet training products Australia to accommodate any lifestyle, facilitate the process and make clean-up a breeze without changing daily routines. The company offers training seats and portable potties, along with waterproof bedding and wet/dry bags for comfort and convenience. Daytime training pants are also available.

For older children attending school, the company's insulated lunch boxes feature bright and colorful designs that make lunch fun and clean-up easy. The lunch boxes Australia are available in multiple styles and are equally appropriate for a visit to the park. They're insulated, lead free and have no BPAs or phthalates for safety.

School books receive a lot of wear and tear as they're transported back and forth between school and home. The school book covers at Haggus and Stookles are scrap book size and can be trimmed to accommodate multiple sizes. Created from non-toxic PVC, they're highly durable and slip easily on any book.

A thermos has become an essential in every parent's must-have take-along items. They offer safety, hygiene, and convenience but even the best made device can experience problems, but there's no need to purchase an entirely new thermos. Haggus and Stookles offer an extensive range of thermos replacement parts Australia encompassing lids, straws, and gaskets to maintain them in ideal working condition.

It can be difficult for parents to find the affordable high-quality children's products they desire. Haggus and Stookles specializes in a wide range of items specifically designed to help make life easier whether individuals are at home, traveling, or just relaxing and enjoying the day.
