

Health and Fitness Travel become foundation member of ATAS

Supporting Professionalism in the Australian Travel Industry

Health and Fitness Travel proudly announce they are now a fully accredited ATAS member as part of the new AFTA National Travel Accreditation Scheme.

Australian Managing Director, Samantha Lippiatt said: "ATAS plays an important part in raising consumer confidence and awareness of the level of professionalism within the Australian Travel Industry, encouraging consumers to utilise accredited travel agencies, and to see them for the adept and knowledgeable businesses they are"

Even with a previously established and successful sister business in the UK, Australian company Health and Fitness Travel who are newly launched in Melbourne this year and previously a member of the Travel Compensation Fund or TCF, were still required to meet strict 'new agency' guidelines to ensure they not only met but are able to elevate the professional standards that AFTA strives to uphold.

Health and Fitness Travel is honoured to be a foundation member of the new accreditation scheme and to play their part in setting the benchmark for quality and professionalism for the benefit of all Australian travellers.
