

Ionmax desiccant dehumidifiers top the Choice review for third consecutive year

The latest dehumidifier review by Choice sees two of Ionmax desiccant dehumidifiers in the top three most recommended models.

Melbourne, Australia – August 18, 2015 – Andatech Director, Irwandy Tan, excitedly announces that two of the Ionmax products are within the top 3 best dehumidifiers in Choice Consumer Magazine's latest dehumidifier review.

"This is the third year in a row that the Ionmax ION632 desiccant dehumidifier has been awarded the coveted top spot of Best Overall Performer. We are extremely proud," said Mr. Tan

The Ionmax ION632 and ION612 desiccant dehumidifiers have been awarded first and third place by Choice Magazine as a result of a number of factors.

The Ionmax ION632 Dehumidifier is designed for performance and ease of use, and ideal for any home and office. Its various features make it an excellent solution to combating humid air and improving indoor air quality.

The Ionmax ION612 Dehumidifier helps to efficiently control the humidity of the air. Its quiet operation, energy-saving ability and silver nano technology make it perfect for the home.

Both units, especially the ION632, have been widely popular not just for home use, but also for industrial applications.

"Customers use our dehumidifiers for basements, office spaces, warehouses, office store rooms, and during renovations," Mr. Tan said.

Both models are desiccant type dehumidifiers with a range of features that make them the perfect solution to any space experiencing mould, mildew, condensation and other humidity problems.

Availability Both dehumidifiers are available for purchase online and in-store at participating resellers.
