

Ionmax ION50 at Andatech Provides Powerful Humidification for Better Health

New Ionmax humidifier provides excellent humidification year-round to alleviate symptoms caused by dry indoor air.

Melbourne, Australia – May 28, 2015 – Andatech director, Irwandy Tan, today announced the release of the highly anticipated Ionmax ION50 Ultrasonic Cool Mist Humidifier, proudly declaring that a percentage from each purchase of the ION50 will be donated to charity.

“In the winter months when our heaters are on, it’s common to see a lot of side effects from air that is too dry, such as cracked lips and skin and blocked nasal passages,” said Tan.

“A humidifier like the ION50 is a real asset in winter to help alleviate these symptoms, but year-round it can also help relieve asthma, allergies and skin conditions such as psoriasis and eczema.”

The Ionmax ION50 is a high efficiency humidifier inside a compact and lightweight design - powerful enough to change the humidity levels in large rooms and living areas and yet light enough to move anywhere in the home or office.

With state-of-the-art features, adjustable mist control and generously sized water tank, the ION50 replaces valuable humidity that’s lost through heating, while its powerful design allows for a 360-degree mist rotation, resulting in better humidity levels for every home.

Excess heat removes much needed moisture from homes, inevitably drying out the house and the people that live in them. An abundance of dry air can reduce the body’s ability to cleanse itself, affect lung and sinus function and in some consumers, increase chances of a respiratory illness.

As a new addition to the Andatech Ionmax family, the ION50 humidifier will enable consumers to control the humidity and air quality in their homes, resulting in better health not only for the house, but the family inside as well.
