

Kalfin Jewellery - 30 Year Experience

Celebrating Your Journey and Ours.

Our Now Today Kalfin Jewellery no longer supplies the jewellery trade; instead we cater direct to the public. We have taken a new direction under the watchful eye of our Director Anthony Kalfin.

We have embraced new innovations and the latest technology, creating a luxurious environment for the comfort of our clients and empowering them with the information to make an informed and personal jewellery decision.

Our boutique established on Level 5 was first of its kind and still stands as a benchmark for others. By closing the gap between designer and end user we have been able to cater for the needs of individuals, providing unsurpassed value and service without compromising quality.

Our passion to design and create individual pieces was the driving force for our move from mass production to custom-made. A love for quality, attention to detail and unmatched customer service is the foundation of our philosophy.

At Kalfin Jewellery we believe that each piece of jewellery should be as unique as the person wearing it. It should represent a memorable journey from design to the creation of the milestone it represents.

Testimonials "Anthony and Yasemin were amazing and helped me find a ring that suited my style.

They both have an incredible way of making you feel like their most important customer. They were great at educating me on the various aspects of diamonds which made my decision easier.

This is the only jeweler you should be going to!" FARRAH K. Simply outstanding customer service from start to finish!
