

Kambrook is introducing two luxurious heated throws to its winter product range, providing the ultimate in comfort and warmth for the cooler months at a very affordable $79.95.

Ideal for use in the living room or bedroom, the throws are made of a soft microfleece fabric and come in two stylish colours – Urban Grey and Midnight Blue. Nine different heat settings ensure plenty of temperature choice and an LCD display allows for easy visibility when changing between settings. For safety, the throws feature an auto-off function, switching the heat off after 10 hours of continuous use. For additional ease, simply remove the detachable controller and the throws can be machine washed and even tumble dried, keeping them clean and fresh throughout the season. Once the weather gets warmer again, the throws can be draped across the lounge or easily folded and stored away, taking up minimal room in the cupboard.
