

KONCHECK: Made Australian Police Check Trouble-Free

KONCHECK: One Solution to all Police Check issues

Australia National Police check now Possible Another feather has been added to the cap of KONZE Enterprise Pty Ltd as it launched its latest project KONCHECK.

KONCHECK is an online portal to lodge a Nationally Coordinated Criminal History Check (NCCHC). Australian Criminal Intelligence Commission (ACIC) accredits KONCHECK.

Australian Government strongly recommends National police check for employers. Police check is a consent-based background and reference check of an applicant. Organizations use it to check if an employee is suitable for paid work, unpaid work, or volunteering with vulnerable groups such as children or adults with disabilities. Crime check is essential for community services, Government, Defense, Immigration, finance and Banking.

Not long ago, when conducting an applicant's background check was quite a hazard. KONCHECK promises to eliminate the hassle of a manual background check as well as the possibility of errors. The website's automated screening system is more useful than ever.

KONCHECK introduces a modern technology by which one can verify their documents, check records in few simple steps. KONCHECK also saves time as dependencies of time-consuming paper forms and snail-mails are over.

KONCHECK is focusing more to avoid cyber-crime issues and hassle-free hiring. The director of KONZE has added, "We want to free up the process and dismiss any risk of safety for Organizations. So, the chances of economic fraud, money laundering, office violence, cybercrime issues can be minimized."

In KONCHECK, National crime check applications are processed within 1-2 business days in 70% of the cases. Rests may take 10-15 days or more time if the case of complicated.

Last but not least, KONCHECK has the capability to be a revolution in the Police checking process by streamlining it, effortlessly.
