

Learn to Trade Reaches Record Number of Students, Continues Global Expansion

Leading forex trading educator in the world

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA – May 16, 2018 – Learn to Trade, the internationally renowned forex trading education provider, has announced that they have recently reached yet another milestone in their mission to educate ordinary people about the opportunities that exists in the global foreign exchange market.

As of early 2018, more than 250,000 students have successfully gone through the company's forex trading workshops that are regularly organized in cities around Australia and the world. This is a new record for the company, and positions Learn to Trade as the leading forex trading educator in the world.

In another encouraging sign, Learn to Trade has recently made its entry into the South African market, adding yet another region to the growing list of countries serviced by Learn to Trade's forex trading coaches and mentors.

Learn to Trade, which was founded in the United Kingdom in 2003 by legendary British forex trader Greg Secker, now has a local presence in four of the key markets for forex trading worldwide: The United Kingdom, Australia, the Philippines, and South Africa.

"We are very pleased to see that more and more young and ambitious traders put their trust in us as they try to navigate the exciting but still complex world of forex trading," said Mr. Greg Secker, founder and CEO of Learn to Trade.

"It is our core philosophy here at Learn to Trade that our success as a company is ultimately based on the long-term success of our students," Mr. Secker added.

While the record number of students, and new market entries, are definitely encouraging achievements for the company, Mr. Secker said that the journey for Learn to Trade has just started.

"There is a tremendous need for high-quality forex trading education out there, so I believe we have just seen the beginning of this," the charismatic CEO explained.

"More and more people are fed up with the daily 9-to-5 and want to take concrete steps to make a change in their life and invest in their own future. Learn to Trade is aiming to be the natural choice and go-to resource for all of those people around the world," Secker pointed out.

Since its founding more than 15 years ago, Learn to Trade has become one of the fastest-growing companies in the industry, offering award-winning training programs and forex trading courses for both new and experienced traders.

In 2017, Learn to Trade was awarded CFI.co's Most Transformative Forex Education Program Award for the second consecutive year, and it is now widely regarded as the leading forex trading educator in the world.

Learn to Trade offers a wide range of courses and seminars for ordinary people who are interested in learning more about forex trading, ranging from free workshops, to one-on-one mentoring, and specialised training programs.
