

Love racehorses? Ever wanted to own one? Come to Sydney International Equestrian Centre, Horsley Park, Sunday 20 May, to discover a new thoroughbred ownership experience

Costing just $275, ownership units in premium racehorses now affordable and easy: meet the horses, and the everyday Australians who already own units

Sydney, 30 April 2018 - MiRunners, the company that is making thoroughbred racehorse ownership an exciting new experience, affordable, and easy for everyone, is holding a special event for existing and prospective new owners on Sunday 20 May at the Sydney International Equestrian Centre, Horsley Park, in western Sydney.

Five thoroughbred yearling race horses will be there with their handlers, trainers - and hundreds of everyday Australians who have already bought ownership units in the horses.

It's a new way to become part of the sport of kings and queens - without having to pay the hundreds of thousands of dollars that has been the traditional asking price to own a racehorse. MiRunners creates 1,000 units in each yearling it buys, and offers these units at 1/1000th of the horse's original purchase price. MiRunners has six horses, with two already sold-out and four with units still available. Units cost $275 each, plus a monthly fee of $15 to support the care, management and training of each horse.

It's a premium ownership experience available to everyone, from mothers and fathers to friends and families. All six horses are being trained by some of Australia's best-known trainers, including Gai Waterhouse, Kris Lees, David Hayes, Mick Price, Tony Gollan and Bjorn Baker.

MiRunners' open day is at Sydney International Equestrian Centre, Saxony Road, Horsley Park, on Sunday 20 May, from 10am. The day is free. Simply register to attend at <https://www.eventbrite.com.au/d/australia--sydney/mirunner/?q=mirunner&mode=search>.
