For Immediate Release

Australia and New Zealand — March 5th, 2018 — Instead of our Annual Conference this year, the GRC Institute will be hosting the GRC2018 Events Series to better support members in Australia and New Zealand. The event will be combined with an awards dinner for those risk and compliance professionals and students who have gone above and beyond.

The event dates are:

- 14 March – Perth
- 21 March – Sydney
- 11 April – Melbourne
- 6 June – Brisbane
- 21 June – New Zealand Summit
- 27 June – Sydney II
- 17 October – Masterclass and Keynote Session Sydney & Awards Dinner
- 12 November – Melbourne II

The thematic focus for GRCI's upcoming event series will be continual learning, self-analysis, career planning, business changes, technology, regulatory updates, and risk and opportunities. This series is an opportunity for the GRCI to cover those areas that affect our members and to work with members to help find common solutions.

"Professionals need to ask themselves on a frequent basis: Do you feel confident your skills and knowledge are current and that you know the best way to do things; that there are opportunities about which you could learn to help your organisation do things better or more efficiently?" GRCI Managing Director Naomi Burley said. "This series of events is intended to be responsive to members' needs and to provide valuable speakers on topics critical to our members, as well as providing them with access to local regulatory input and relevant contacts and networks. These one-day events will offer members a day of intense workshop and plenary topics, and will vary depending on the city and current issues as they arise.”

Visit the GRCI events page for updates on the GRC2018 Event Series.
