

NEW FUNERAL CONCIERGE LAUNCHES FOR CONSUMERS

eziFunerals is pleased to announce the launch of a new funeral concierge service for families coping with death and planning a funeral.

Peter Erceg, Owner and Founder eziFunerals, said “Coping with death and organising a funeral is one of the most difficult things we will ever be asked to do”.

“We understand that when someone dies, families have enough to deal with – and the added stress of organising a funeral can be overwhelming for many people.”

That’s where a service like a funeral concierge can not only help families make better informed decisions but also save them money. Think of eziFunerals as a consumer advocate who is not associated with a funeral director, meaning they don’t benefit from upselling on things you don’t need or want.

“When there is an impending death of a family member, our funeral concierge advisors can answer all your questions about what will be happening in the short term, what you can expect and what you need to do. Our concierge advisors are knowledgeable, unbiased, and empathetic to your individual needs”, says Erceg.

How Does eziFunerals Concierge Work? At the time of death, an eziFunerals can request quotes from funeral directors and negotiate prices and contracts for consumers at a funeral home of their choice.

eziFunerals can help families get the best prices, often saving consumers a considerable amount of money while not placing the family in the awkward position of trying to negotiate with funeral homes direct.

For a small fee, an eziFunerals can provide the following service:

Step you through the many decisions required of the family. Share your options with the family, but never recommending one product or service over another. Help the family create a personalised funeral plan. Support geographically dispersed family members to participate in the funeral planning process. Communicate the funeral plan with funeral directors to obtain no obligation quotes. Present the quotes to the family, but never recommending one funeral director over another. Negotiate pricing for products and services with the funeral home selected by the family. Most importantly, all of this work is done very expeditiously. eziFunerals funeral concierge service works on the consumer's behalf 24/7—they are there when they are needed most!

Note: eziFunerals has no financial motivation to direct clients to one funeral home, product or service. We are a neutral resource available to give guidance at a time when understanding options can be difficult. We provide you with the best options based on the client's individual needs without making recommendations.

Check with your Aged Care Home or Employer Benefits Program to see if you are eligible for eziFunerals Concierge Consultancy at no additional cost to you as part of your benefits package.
