

Nexon Asia Pacific announces the recent acquisition of Cavalry

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA – Wednesday 4th April 2018 – Nexon Asia Pacific (Nexon) announces the recent acquisition of multi-award winning managed cloud provider, Cavalry. Head quartered in Sydney, operating in Brisbane and Melbourne, Cavalry services mid-sized organisations spanning throughout Australia, Hong Kong, New Zealand, Beijing and Shanghai.

A strong partnership between the two companies formed over 12 years ago has now lead to the Nexon acquisition. The acquisition will strengthen Nexon's footprint and service offering, especially in hosted desktop, hybrid cloud consulting and managed services. Together their expertise and deep domain knowledge will enhance Nexon's service offering and deliver superior value to Nexon and Cavalry clients. The collective resources will also provide enhanced capability for Nexon to continue its efforts to develop and grow Cloud services.

"By extending our capabilities and capacity through such partnerships we are able to offer our customers added benefits and access to additional expertise particularly when it comes to Cloud services. We are committed to fulfilling their evolving needs and how they can best leverage technology to do things better in today's digital economy" said Nexon's Managing Director, Barry Assaf.

The acquisition made by Nexon brings significant advantages, clients will now have access to a broader range of Nexon services including network, cloud infrastructure, unified communications, security, business applications, and digital workspace and managed IT services in Australia and abroad. "We will continue to service our customers, always committed to maintaining service excellence. This new partnership with Nexon means our clients will now have access to a broader and deeper set of solutions, skills, and expertise that will support their organisational quest for innovation and purpose. This is just another chapter in our growth story and we are excited for what the future holds for both our clients and our team" said Peter Low, Director at Cavalry.
