

PADI IDC during Covid-19

Can I do my PADI IDC with the current Corona Virus lock out

So here we are during this time of lock down and you may be wondering if and when can you do your PADI IDC... Here at Dive Instructor located in Port Douglas, Australia we are at lock down which means that everything including training centres, dive pools and dive boats are either closed down or tied up.

But fear not..... There are a number of things you can do now to get ready for your PADI IDC which you will have to do anyway as part of your Instructor Development Course. Get in touch with me so that I can send you the PADI eLearning code that will give you access to the online portion of the PADI IDC which you must complete before you start the program.

In addition I can give you access to my own online eLearning material for diving physics, skills and environment, physiology, dive equipment and the recreational dive planner. There are also PADI practice exams for you to complete so that you come into the IDC well prepared.

Stay well, Stay safe and see you soon underwater...
