

Polkadot Communications lands skincare brand Palmer's to boost health and beauty portfolio

Leading boutique agency, Polkadot Communications, is delighted to announce they will be working with leading natural beauty brand, Palmer's, to help raise awareness of their extensive product range as well as securing opportunities for brand ambassador, Georgia Love. Emma Clark, Digital, Content, Community & Communications Executive at Palmer's commented: "The team at Polkadot Communications is a perfect fit for us in terms of their enthusiasm, creativity and knowledge of the Palmer's brand and we look forward to working together on a number of consumer campaigns." Dionne Taylor, Founder and Director says: "We're thrilled to become part of the Palmer's family, especially being the first new agency they have worked with in over a decade. Winning the Palmer's contract is testament to the quality work and campaigns we have implemented for many leading brands in the beauty sector and we look forward to growing with the brand together." In addition to Palmer's, the Sydney-based agency has welcomed a raft of health, beauty and wellness clients to its portfolio including Healthyroo, Care for Family, Dietlicious, Fontanella and New You Fitness. Polkadot Communications represents some of Australia's best-known brands and clients across a range of industries including beauty, health and wellness, lifestyle, food and beverage, fashion, kids, travel, education, events and tech disruptors.
