

RCR International launches new website

A new improved website for RCR International's Pro-Val products

RCR International is proud to launch our new online store for the Pro-Val range of safety products! To celebrate the launch we are offering all customers 15% off all orders placed in the first week. Valid: Monday 14th May - Sunday 20th May 2012 www.rcr.com.au With a new, clean and fresh design we are also offering a number of improvements to enhance your experience with us: * Free delivery on all orders over $500 * PayPal payments are now accepted for all online orders * New 1300 number so you don't pay any STD charges when you call us - 1300 727 535 * Embedded PDF catalogue so you can view our full catalogue without having to download the whole file to your computer * New and improved glove chemical resistance table * Social media tools to allow you to easily share products and resources with your Facebook friends and Twitter followers * 'Save for later' option so you can easily find products you were interested in at a later date, or easily reorder products you use regularly Unfortunately for existing customers, we haven't been able to transfer your account information across to the new website, so you will need to create a new account. If you need any information on your previous orders, please contact our friendly Customer Service team.
