

Turn Your Back Yard Into a Private Paradise With a Trueline Coolskin Aluminium Patio

One of the best things about an Australian summer is relaxing in the shade of a well-built patio, and as your source of shade and protection, it is important to choose something durable and efficient, as well as pleasing to the eye. You also want something that requires as little maintenance as possible.

Trueline's Coolskin aluminium patios are an example of how classic concepts can evolve into a gem of timeless design, adaptable to a wide range of spaces while making cool outdoor living easier to attain. Trueline Coolskin are made from high performance aluminium, providing an undercover environment 34% cooler than steel, with a more modern age aesthetic and flat roof profile

Aluminium is one of the most popular options as it offers many advantages over other materials, and Trueline's Coolskin Aluminium Roofing offers quality patios that will last for years to come. Crafted from high tensile marine grade aluminium, the product is rust proof and fade resistant, and comes in a wide range of colours, coated with a unique high gloss baked enamel paint to protect the roofing and ensure temperature regulation.

One of the best things about the Coolskin Aluminium Roofing is its ability to stay cool. In comparison to steel, the aluminium patio material is 34% cooler, ideal for the harsh Australian climate. The material can also stand up to cyclonic conditions and requires fewer posts to install. It also is known for being extremely durable, lasting decades.

Trueline are devoted to customer care and satisfaction, meticulously checking every detail from design to completion. Trueline use only the best Australian made materials built by their skilled professionals, with each stage of the process supervised by onsite project managers and a dedicated support team.

Trueline's patios and carports are engineered to the highest possible standards of quality and durability backed with genuine long life guarantees, and for more information on insulated patio roofing, outdoor living ideas and lifestyle patios please go to www.trueline.net.au .
