

Unisite's TimberImage Range Recognised at Civenex 2014

Unisite continues to create and design innovative, high-performing products and their dedication has been rewarded at Civenex, Australia's Premier Infrastructure Expo.

For over twenty years, Unisite has provided the most stylish and functional of park furniture and finishes. From outdoor seating and park benches, to rubbish bins, bollards, grandstands and park shelters, Unisite continues to create and design innovative, high-performing products and their dedication has been rewarded at Civenex, Australia's Premier Infrastructure Expo.

Clients

Unisite provides park furniture for clients across Australia, on behalf of architects and specifiers and for local governments through to schools and educational centres. Outdoor furniture and seating enhances amenity and the quality of life for millions of citizens. With this in mind, Unisite creates products that are comfortable, stylish, and compliant with relevant Australian safety and building standards. Forward thinking and great quality allows Unisite to be a leader in their sector.

TimberImage

Unisite's TimberImage finish has proven to push the boundaries of outdoor furniture design. This particular finish enables customers to experience the classic beauty of a timber finish, but with the enhanced durability and strength of aluminium. The TimberImage finish can be etched into any outdoor furniture and requires no upkeep. It also means that no logging is required to create the feeling of wood, meaning there is less impact on the environment. In addition, the innovative TimberImage finish has no risk of cracking, rotting, insect infestation or warping. Warmth and quality combine to make an award winning park furniture finish.

Awarded

Australia's Premier Infrastructure Expo, Civenex, awarded TimberImage the most innovative product award of 2014. Held in Sydney, on 14 and 15 May, the Expo showcased new and innovative solutions for public works, government and corporate clients. Unisite's TimberImage was recognised and celebrated for its functionality and design quality.

Therefore, look no further than Unisite for a beautiful wood finish on your park furniture. At the same time, Unisite also has a vast range of outdoor furnishings and finishes that are designed for optimal strength, durability and quality to suit any area.
